

Claims: What is claimed is:

A carrier for holding articles within the bed of a pickup truck, comprising:

1. a longitudinal flap intermediate and traversing the bottom panel and back panel.
2. a longitudinal lobe, integrated along the length of the distal end of the longitudinal flap, which becomes trapped along the length of the gap between the truck bed and truck tailgate providing a means of securing the carrier to resist pilferage and inadvertent ejection.
3. a top panel and bottom panel hinged onto common back panel with zipper closures to permit for full collapse and folding of the carrier.
4. two zipper pulls on top panel and bottom panel to permit for attachment of a lock for security.
